

The wind

Where does it go?

It travels here and there

There seems no start or beginning

But why?