

An Amazing Destination

Do I enjoy having fun and exploring new things? My answer is definitely, "Yes!" As far as I am concerned, Universal Studios is the place for me! Universal is a theme park in Orlando, FL. It is similar to Disney World, but a bit more adventurous. There are so many amazing things to do! There are many reasons why I never get tired of going to Universal. Three of them are the thrilling rides, the varieties of foods, and the multiple areas of adventurous activities. Out of all the places I could go, I would always choose Universal Studios!

First of all, I thoroughly enjoy all the exciting rides! There are a few rides that give out 3D glasses, and I use them to watch the screen in front of me. It looks as real as life itself and makes me feel like I am actually there. Some rides have incredible drops, big and small, when I least expect them. They catch me by surprise, and sometimes it can be very scary. There always are a lot of screams of healthy fear on these rides which makes them even more exciting for me. My favorite rollercoasters are the ones that go at an accelerated speed. I love these fast rides because they make me feel as if I am flying through the air. My stomach talks frantically to me as we rapidly turn the corners. There are such a variety of rides at Universal Studios that make the experience unforgettable!

Secondly, Universal has delicious food! They sell things there that I don't normally get to eat or drink. All the food that I have tasted have the most savory flavors. They offer specialties of all kinds. Most of them include vegetables and different kinds of protein that are cooked to perfection. Just thinking about it makes my mouth water. They also have something called, "Butter Beer," and it is not an alcoholic beverage. It comes in many forms, hot, frozen or lukewarm. My family thinks it tastes like sweet soda with cream on top. It is delicious, and I look forward to it every time we visit.

If I choose, I can also have regular food like apple juice and burgers. For some reason, even those things tastes better at Universal Studios.

Finally, Universal Studios has many sections full of adventure. If I feel like superheroes, there is a whole area dedicated just for them. It is called "Marvel Island." Being there is like being in a fantasyland, full of my favorite characters. Even though I know they aren't real, it feels good sometimes to pretend. There is also another area that is all about magic, if that should be my preference. It is called "Wizards World of Harry Potter." The atmosphere is actually chillier, and sometimes I need to wear a jacket. It gives me an eerie feeling, but nevertheless there are a lot of enjoyable things to do. A separate section, specifically for younger children, allows my sister to enjoy this wonderful vacation spot, as well. It also has rides that are not so extreme and entertaining activities made just for kids. Universal includes the whole family and offers multiple areas of excitement and fun!

In conclusion, I consider Universal Studios my favorite place to go. There is something there for everyone in my family to enjoy. It is an amazing place for a vacation or even a weekend getaway. Exciting rides, delightful food choices and many adventurous activities are just three of many reasons why I choose Universal without a doubt. I always look forward to going every chance I get. Whether I am young or old, I don't believe I will ever get tired of going to Universal Studios!
