

The alarm rings

I awake while the birds sing

Then I hear the door ding

My mom had something to bring

She came to my room with a box and a string

I opened the box faster than A bird's wing

When I opened, I found a wonderous thing

There was a ticket for a cruise to Beijing!

We made our way to the car

And drove until we saw a star

At the motel my dad played guitar

In the morning we drove very far

And now the cruise is where we are

My parents went to the bar

While I went to go find a cookie jar

I met a boy named Jabbar

While running we fell, and I got a scar.

The next night for dinner I wore a fancy hat

When we got to the table me and my family sat

A server came and his name was Matt

At dinner we had fish that reminded me of my cat

I dropped my cake on the floor and it went "splat"

I was so embarrassed and cleaned the mat

Once I finished it was my cat at home that I wanted to pat

We finally arrived at the destination

And the tour guide gave us some information

She told us that 21.54 million is the population

Then we arrived at the hotel's location

Right across the block was a train station

I looked around and thought this would be a good situation
